A Royal Quarrel.

Long year ago --- but this is a bit of velusive reminisuance known only to a ew Queen Victorio, in the early days of her weilded life, had one of those squabbles with her he-band, of the sort which will come about sometimes even between the most leving occupies. Chasgrined and vexed, the prince retired to his room and locked the door. He his door and rapped.

Albert, said she, come out. No, I will not, answered the prince from within. Come, go away, leave me alono.

The royal temper waxed hot at this. Sir, she cried, come out at once. The queen, whose subject you are, ommanda it.

He obeyed immediately. Entering the room she designated, he sat down Albert, said she, speak to me.

Does the quoen demand it? he enquired. No, said she, throwing her arms about his neck, your wife begait.

THE LATEST CONFIDENCE GAME.

The Quincy Whip says : "The worst confidence game of the scason was practiced on a minister a few days ago by unknown parties. A couple—apparently a gentleman and ludy—went to the house of a Quincy divine, armed with a marringo license, and requested the minister to marry them. The cere | Speedy and Sure Cure | mony was performed according to the latest fashton, when the bridegroom asked the elergyman how much he charged. Three dollars. A $20 bill was handed out, and the groom received $17 in change. A few moments conversation and congratulations followed, when the couple prepared to depart; but the bride, who was evidently a little awkward at the business of handling a train, displayed a pair of heavy boots This naturally aroused some suspicious of a trick. Accordingly some of the household watched the pair as they loft the parsonage, and had the satisfaction of seeing the woman distable in an alley, and come forth as Genuine French Cobalt line a looking young man as one would wish to see. In the course of this letter to Butler McVengh says. Where I am known I do not need to money, or to declare it to be, as you well know it to be, a base and cowardly falschood. For those who do not know me, perhaps I ought to add, that apart from any repugnance on my part to the orime, there were two practical diffi culties in the way of my committing it. I had no money of my own to spare, and it is only a military commandant of New Orleans in time of war who can safely appropriate any considerable
